

Coalition to Shelter and Support the Homeless (CSSH) is an alliance of faith-based and community service organizations assisting unsheltered adults in Central Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Our first priority is to provide shelter on Code Blue nights. At the same time, we try to link the homeless and financially distressed to needed resources.

All of our work is done in a spirit of respect for the individual, and without regard to gender, race, nationality, sexual orientation, and religious or political beliefs.

CSSH Phone, SMS and Personal Information Privacy Policy

Coalition to Shelter and Support the Homeless (CSSH) collects personal information from individuals who opt-in to receive phone calls, information and mailings, and SMS messages from the organization. The personal information we collect includes phone numbers and email addresses. We may also collect additional personal information, such as name and zip code, if provided by the individual.

We use this information to send informational messages and reminders to our subscribers.

We do not share this information with third parties, except as required by law or to comply with legal process. We take reasonable measures to protect the security of this information.

To opt-out of receiving SMS messages from us, please reply STOP to any message you receive from us. You may also contact us at [866-390-0291 x 0] to request that we remove your information from our database.
